

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

LAJAZZ A. SMITH,
Plaintiff,

v.

MENDES, et al.,
Defendants.

Case No. 16-cv-02746-KAW (PR)

ORDER OF DISMISSAL WITHOUT PREJUDICE

Plaintiff Lajazz Smith, a state prisoner incarcerated at Salinas Valley State Prison, has filed a pro se civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, alleging the violation of her constitutional rights by prison employees. Plaintiff has consented to the jurisdiction of the undersigned United States Magistrate Judge over this action. Plaintiff has filed a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (“IFP”), which is granted in a separate order. For the reasons stated below, the Court dismisses this action without prejudice.

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff alleges that prison employees are retaliating against her. In the complaint, Plaintiff indicates that she did not complete the prison’s administrative appeal process because “there a lot of staff and supervisors retaliating on me due to other pending suits civil [sic].”

The Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1995 amended 42 U.S.C. § 1997e to provide that “[n]o action shall be brought with respect to prison conditions under [42 U.S.C. § 1983], or any other Federal law, by a prisoner confined in any jail, prison, or other correctional facility until such administrative remedies as are available are exhausted.” Compliance with the exhaustion requirement is mandatory. See Porter v. Nussle, 534 U.S. 516, 524 (2002); Booth v. Churner, 532 U.S. 731, 739-40 & n.5 (2001). The administrative remedies need not meet federal standards, nor

1 need they be “plain, speedy and effective.” Porter, 534 U.S. at 524.

2 Although nonexhaustion under Section 1997e(a) is an affirmative defense, a prisoner’s
3 concession to nonexhaustion is a valid ground for dismissal. See Wyatt v. Terhune, 315 F.3d
4 1108, 1119-20 (9th Cir. 2003) (prisoner’s concession to nonexhaustion is valid ground for 5 dismissal, as long as no exception to exhaustion applies), overruled on other grounds in Albino v.
6 Baca, 747 F.3d 1162, 1166 (9th Cir. 2014). Accordingly, a claim may be dismissed without
7 prejudice if it is clear from the record that the prisoner concedes that he did not exhaust
8 administrative remedies. See id. The Ninth Circuit has interpreted Section 1997e(a) to mean that
9 an action must be dismissed unless the prisoner exhausted his available administrative remedies
10 before he or she filed suit, even if the prisoner fully exhausts while the suit is pending. See
11 McKinney v. Carey, 311 F.3d 1198, 1199 (9th Cir. 2002).

12 It is obvious from the face of Plaintiff’s complaint that she did not exhaust her
13 administrative remedies. She indicates that she did not use the administrative appeals process
14 because she is being retaliated against. However, this reason is insufficient to excuse
15 administrative exhaustion. Because Plaintiff did not exhaust her claims prior to filing this action,
16 this action will be dismissed without prejudice. Plaintiff may re-file these claims in a new case
17 once administrative appeals are exhausted.

18 CONCLUSION

19 Based on the foregoing, this case is dismissed without prejudice. The Clerk shall enter a 20 separate judgment and close the file.
